New York City Places of Interest

Central Park

Central Park is really one of New York's most pleasant areas and is where many New Yorkers come to relax. You haven't visited New York until you have strolled in the Park. Most of the areas immediately adjacent to the park are known for impressive buildings and valuable real estate. The park contains several natural-looking lakes and ponds, extensive walking tracks, two ice-skating rinks, the Central Park Zoo, the Central Park Conservatory Garden, a wildlife sanctuary, a large area of natural woods, a reservoir with an encircling running track, and the outdoor Delacorte Theater which hosts the "Shakespeare in the Park" summer festivals. The park also serves as an oasis for migrating birds. Central Park is also the most visited city park in the United States, and its appearance in many movies and television shows has made it famous.

Location: 59th to 110th Streets between Fifth Ave & Central Park West

Upper East Side

The Upper East Side is one of New York's most famous neighborhoods located between Central Park and the East River. Once known as the Silk Stocking District, it is one of the most affluent neighborhoods in New York City. Historically, most members of New York's upper-class families have made residences on the Upper East Side, including the oil-rich Rockefellers, the political Roosevelts, the Kennedys. The area is host to some of the most famous museums in the world. The string of museums along Fifth Avenue fronting Central Park has been dubbed "Museum Mile." It was once named "Millionaire's Row." Take a stroll in this beautiful neighborhood full of breathtaking architecture and feel like a true New Yorker.

Location: E 59th St to E 96th St between East River and Fifth Ave

Museum Mile

Museum Mile is a section of Fifth Avenue running from 82nd to 105th streets on the Upper East Side. The Mile, contains one of the densest displays of culture in the world. Nine museums occupy the length of this section of Fifth Avenue and a tenth museum, the Museum for African Art, joined the ensemble in 2009. In addition to other programming, the museums collaborate for the annual Museum Mile Festival, held each year in June, to promote the museums and increase visitation. Museums include, The Museum For African Art, The Museum of the City of New York, Cooper-Hewitt National Design Museum, The Guggenheim Museum, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Neue Galerie, The Jewish Museum, The National Academy Museum and School and El Museo Del Barrio.

Location: 82nd St to 110th St on Fifth Ave

Metropolitan Museum of Art

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, often referred to simply as "the Met", is one of the world's largest and most important art museums. It is located on the eastern edge of Central Park. The Met's permanent collection contains more than two million works of art from around the world. The collection's holdings range from treasures of classical antiquity, like those represented in its Greek and Cypriot galleries, to paintings and sculptures from nearly all the European masters, to an extensive collection of American art. The collection also contains extensive holdings of Egyptian, African, Asian, Oceanic, Middle Eastern, Byzantine and Islamic art.

Location: 1000 Fifth Avenue at 82nd Street

The American Museum of Natural History

The American Museum of Natural History is one of New York's most impressive landmarks located along Central Park on the Upper West Side of Manhattan. The building that it is housed in is a work of art in and of itself. The museum contains 42 permanent exhibitions as well as an interesting selection of temporary ones. Permanent exhibitions include a huge collection of rare dinosaur fossils and massive dinosaur skeletons, rare gems and exhibitions devoted to the earth's history and outer space. There are also very impressive anthropology sections and the new Rose Center for Earth and Space. The Museum also has an IMAX theater and much more. It is definitely a must see for NYC.

Location: Central Park West and 79th Street

Harlem

Harlem is a large, vibrant and exciting neighborhood located in the Northern section of Manhattan. Since the 1920s, Harlem has been known as a major African-American residential, cultural and business center. In the 1920s and 1930s, Central and West Harlem was the focus of the "Harlem Renaissance", an outpouring of artistic work without precedent in the American black community. The Apollo Theater opened on 125th Street on January 26, 1934, in a former burlesque house. The Savoy Ballroom, on Lenox Avenue, was a renowned venue for swing-dancing, and was immortalized in a popular song of the era, "Stompin' At The Savoy". In the 1920s and 1930s, between Lenox and Seventh Avenues in central Harlem, over 125 entertainment places operated, including speakeasies, cellars, lounges, cafes, taverns, supper clubs, rib joints, theaters, dance halls, and bars and grills. More recently, Harlem past and present residents have made major contributions to the hip-hop movement including such names as Tupac Shakur, Big L, Kurtis Blow, Immortal Technique, A$AP Rocky, Mase, P. Diddy and Azealia Banks. Harlem is also the birthplace of popular hip-hop dances such as the Harlem shake, toe wop, and Chicken Noodle Soup. Harlem is currently experiencing a gourmet renaissance with new dining hotspots popping up uptown around Frederick Douglass Boulevard. Don't miss a visit to this fantastic neighborhood!

Location: 110th Street – Central Park North to 155th St

MOMA

The Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) is often considered the most influential museum of modern art in the world. The museum's collection offers a great overview of modern and contemporary art including works of architecture, drawing, painting, sculpture, photography, prints illustrated books, film and electronic media. Considered by many to have the best collection of modern Western masterpieces in the world, MoMA's holdings include more than 150,000 individual pieces in addition to approximately 22,000 films and 4 million film stills. The collection houses such important and familiar works as the following: The Starry Night by Vincent van Gogh, The Sleeping Gypsy by Henri Rousseau, I and the Village by Marc Chagall, The Dream (1910), by Henri Rousseau, Les Femmes d'Alger (O. J. R.) by Pablo Picasso, The Persistence of Memory by Salvador Dalí, Campbell's Soup Cans by Andy Warhol, Water Lilies triptych by Claude Monet, The Dance by Henri Matisse, The Bather by Paul Cézanne, Number 31, 1950 by Jackson Pollock, Flag by Jasper Johns and many more.

Location: 11 West 53rd Street (between 5th and 6th Avenues)

Times Square

Times Square is a major intersection in Manhattan at the junction of Broadway and Seventh Avenue and stretching from West 42nd to West 47th Streets. Times Square has achieved the status of an iconic world landmark and has become a symbol of its city. Times Square is principally defined by its animated, digital advertisements. Times Square is the site of the annual New Year's Eve ball drop. On this night hundreds of thousands of people congregate to watch the Waterford crystal ball being lowered on a pole atop the building (though not to the street, as is a common misconception), marking the new year. On average, about 300,000 revelers crowd Times Square for the New Year's Eve celebrations. Times Square is right next door to New York's famous Broadway Theater District.

Location: W 42nd to W 47th Streets between Broadway and 7th Ave

Greenwich Village

Greenwich Village often referred to by locals simply as "the Village", one of New York's most culturally important neighborhoods located on the west side of Lower Manhattan. It is home to numerous beautiful townhouses, cafes, restaurants and music venues. Greenwich Village, was known in the late 19th to mid 20th centuries as an artists' haven, the bohemian capital, and the East Coast birthplace of both the Beat and '60s counterculture movements. The Village would later play central roles in the writings of, among others, Jack Kerouac, Allen Ginsberg, William S. Burroughs, James Baldwin, Truman Capote, Marianne Moore and Dylan Thomas. The Village had and still has a cutting-edge cabaret and music scene. Village resident and cultural icon Bob Dylan by the mid-60s became one of the foremost popular songwriters in the world. Dozens of other cultural and popular icons got their start in the Village's nightclub, theater, and coffeehouse scene during the 1950s, 1960s, and early 1970s. Notably, Jimi Hendrix, Barbra Streisand, Peter, Paul, and Mary, Bette Midler, The Lovin' Spoonful, Simon & Garfunkel, Liza Minnelli, Jackson Browne, James Taylor, Joan Baez, The Velvet Underground, The Kingston Trio, Richie Havens, Joni Mitchell, and Nina Simone. Greenwich Village is still home to celebrities, including many actresses/actors - Emma Stone, Julianne Moore, Uma Thurman, Edward Norton, Amy Sedaris and Daniel Radcliffe. Matthew Broderick grew up and still lives in the neighborhood with his wife, Sarah Jessica Parker. American designer Marc Jacobs and CNN anchor Anderson Cooper live in the community.

Location: Houston St to 14th St between Broadway and Hudson River

The Cloisters

The Cloisters is a branch of the Metropolitan Museum of Art located in Fort Tryon Park in Upper Manhattan and features an extensive collection of art, architecture and artifacts from Medieval Europe. The Cloisters has an especially beautiful location - situated on a hill overlooking the Hudson River, and incorporates parts from five European abbeys that were disassembled and shipped to New York City between 1934 and 1939. The area around the buildings was landscaped with gardens planted according to horticultural information obtained from medieval manuscripts and artifacts, and the structure includes multiple medieval-style cloistered herb gardens. Be sure to visit the Cloisters when staying with us.

Location: Upper Manhattan, 99 Margaret Corbin Drive

Statue of Liberty

The Statue of Liberty was presented to the United States by the people of France in 1886. Standing on Liberty Island in New York Harbor, it welcomes visitors, immigrants, and returning Americans traveling by ship. The copper-clad statue, dedicated on October 28, 1886, commemorates the centennial of the signing of the United States Declaration of Independence and is a gesture of friendship from France to the United States. Worldwide, the Statue of Liberty is one of the most recognizable icons of the United States. The statue is the central part of Statue of Liberty National Monument, administered by the National Park Service. Visiting Liberty Island is one of the most rewarding experiences of any trip to New York City. However, visitors who desire to enter the museum, pedestal or crown must secure an advanced reservation. All tickets purchased include access to Ellis Island as well. To learn more, please visit the following website: <http://www.nps.gov/stli/planyourvisit/index.htm>

Location: Liberty Island

Ellis Island

Ellis Island, located in Upper New York Bay was the gateway for over 12 million immigrants coming to the United States between 1892 and 1954. Ellis Island afforded them the opportunity to attain the American dream for themselves and their descendants. Come hear their stories at the Ellis Island Immigration Museum. The Ellis Island Immigration Museum is now open to the public. Guided tours and audio tours tell the story of 12 million immigrants. To visit both Liberty Island and Ellis Island in one day, the National Park Service recommends an early ferry departure.

The Bronx Zoo

The Bronx Zoo's motto is Saving Wildlife and Wild Places. Visitors to the zoo get to view polar bears, leopards, lemurs and great apes. The zoo is easy to get to by car or mass transit and is accessible to persons of all abilities. The Bronx Zoo is the largest metropolitan zoo in the United States and comprises 265 acres of parklands and naturalistic habitats, through which the Bronx River flows. Today, the Bronx Zoo is home to more than 4,000 animals, many of which are endangered or threatened species. Nearly two million people visit the Zoo each year. We highly recommend visiting the zoo, especially if children are traveling with you. To learn more about visiting the view, please visit: <http://www.bronxzoo.com/>.

Location: 2300 Southern Boulevard, Bronx Park, Bronx, New York

The Central Park Zoo

The Central Park Zoo located right in the heart of Manhattan, is a great place to visit. There is a rain forest habitat where you can see animals of the Amazon as well as a Arctic habitat that is home to the Central Park Zoo's penguin and polar bears. The Central Park Zoo even has a Children's zoo where kids can get up close to animals and learn about them in a comfortable setting. The Wildlife Conservation Society's Central Park Zoo takes up 5 plus acres near 5th Ave. There are more than 130 different species of animals housed in specially created habitats that resemble their natural environment.

Location: 64th St and Fifth Ave

The New York Aquarium

The New York Aquarium currently occupies 14 acres by the sea in Coney Island, and boasts over 350 species of aquatic wildlife. Its mission is to raise public awareness about issues facing the ocean and its inhabitants with special exhibits, public events and research. At the Aquarium's Osborn Laboratories of Marine Sciences (OLMS), several studies are currently underway investigating such topics as dolphin cognition, satellite tagging of sharks, and coral reefs. The aquarium is a great day trip for visitors to the city and is easily accessible by subway or by car.

Location: 602 Surf Ave, Brooklyn

The United Nations

The Headquarters of the United Nations is located in New York City, along the East River. When you pass through the gates of the United Nations visitors' entrance, you enter an international territory. This 18-acre site does not belong to just one country, but to all countries that have joined the Organization; currently, the United Nations has 193 Member States. You can visit the United Nations in the heart of New York City! The UN has 1 hour guided tours offering an exciting opportunity to discover and get a behind-the-scenes view of the Organization at work. All tours start in the United Nations North Lawn Building located at 47th Street and 1st Avenue. Tickets for tours are only available online and must be purchased in advance in order to enter the premises. Location: E 42nd St to E 47th St between First Ave and East River

Lincoln Center

Lincoln Center is a 16.3-acre complex of buildings in New York City which serves as home for 12 arts organizations: Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, Film Society of Lincoln Center, Jazz at Lincoln Center, Juilliard School, Lincoln Center Theater, Metropolitan Opera, New York City Ballet, New York City Opera, New York Philharmonic, New York Public Library for the Performing Arts, School of American Ballet, and Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, Inc. Lincoln Center serves three primary roles: presenter of artistic programming, national leader in arts and education and community relations, and manager of the Lincoln Center campus. As a presenter of more than 400 events annually, its programs include American Songbook, Great Performers, Lincoln Center Festival, Lincoln Center Out of Doors, Midsummer Night Swing, the Mostly Mozart Festival, and the Emmy Award-winning Live From Lincoln Center. To check performances and learn more, please visit <http://lc.lincolncenter.org/>

Location: 10 Lincoln Center Plaza (between W 62nd and W 65th Streets)

Rockefeller Center

Having been built to meet the needs of the people, Rockefeller Center has been a favorite spot for both New Yorkers and tourists. Visit the outdoor cafe, site of the ice skating rink, or Radio City Music Hall, the 6,000 seat former movie palace. Head underground through the labyrinth of passages connecting 14 of the 19 buildings or rise 65 stories to the Rainbow Room. If you've come to NYC to shop, Rockefeller Center has some great stores including H&M the hip clothing store. Whatever it is, Rockefeller Center is sure to have it.

Location: 75 Rockefeller Plaza (between W 49th And W 50th Streets)

Williamsburg, Brooklyn

With a diverse demographic that includes prominent Hasidic and Latino communities, semi-industrial Williamsburg, Brooklyn, attracts young – and not-so-young – cool-hunters from all over the city. But it's not just about hanging out in neo-rustic bars and sporting vintage hats and Amish-esque facial hair – the 'Burg is a serious gastro destination and arty enclave, with a strong DIY spirit. Bedford Avenue is the neighborhood's main thoroughfare, anchored by the Bedford Mini-Mall (218 Bedford Ave between North 4th and 5th Sts) with its collection of indie merchants, but shops, bars and eateries radiate out in all directions – notable openings in the past few years include Reynard in the Wythe Hotel; the innovative movie-theater-cum-restaurant Nitehawk Cinema; and seasonal epicurean extravaganza Smorgasburg in East River State Park – one of the city's best street fairs. Chinatown Chinatown New York City is located in one of the oldest neighborhoods in Manhattan. Chinese immigrants settled in the area in the 1800s. Chinatown offers a unique historical and cultural experience not found anywhere else in the world. Whether characterized by their stores and restaurants or their unique size and shape, the streets of Chinatown provide a fascinating cultural experience. Often overlooked, Chinatown is the site of a rich history that not only tells the story of the Chinese-American experience, but also that of early Irish, Jewish and Italian immigrants. Today, remnants of the neighborhood's European-American ancestry stand side-by-side with more recent Asian-inspired landmarks. Come explore this interesting section of Manhattan. Eat excellent Chinese food and one of the hundreds of Chinese restaurants and explore the markets and streets of this bustling area.
